EDITION 1 • 2026

"I want to start. I just don't want to be on camera."

That's the sentence I hear more than any other from women over 50. Some version of it shows up in my comments every single day.

Maybe you feel it too. You don't like how you look on video. You don't want your old boss, your neighbors or your family to see. Or you're simply a private person. All of that is okay.

When I studied hundreds of the posts doing best online right now, one thing stood out. Some of the biggest ones had no face at all. Just helpful words, a phone screen, a pair of hands, a cup of coffee.

You don't need to show your face to start over. You need something helpful to say, and a simple way to say it.

This kit gives you exactly that. The formats that work, the prompts to fill them, and a plan to follow for 30 days.

HONESTY NOTE

This kit will not make you rich, and I won't promise what it will earn. Nobody honestly can. It gives you a simple, private way to start, and the tools to keep going.

MEET YOUR GUIDE

Hi, I'm Josée.

I'm 58. I don't code. And today AI does about 90% of the work in my business.

I'll be honest: I'm not a natural on camera either. Today many of my videos use an AI version of me, and many of my best posts have no face in them at all.

I rebuilt my business one small step at a time. Three months ago I started using Claude, and it changed everything. What took me days now takes hours.

What "faceless" really means

Faceless doesn't mean hidden or fake. It means your face isn't the star. Your help is.

IT IS NOT

- Pretending to be someone else
- Fake reviews or fake stories
- Copying other people's posts
- Hiding what you sell

IT IS

- Your real words and real tips
- Your hands, your desk, your screen
- Your voice, if you want to use it
- Honest, helpful, and you

Three ways to be faceless

Fully faceless.

Words, graphics, screen recordings. No face, no voice. Perfect if you're very private.

Voice, no face.

Your voice over your hands, your coffee, your screen. People feel like they know you.

An AI version of you.

A photo plus your voice becomes a talking video. I use this. Always be honest that it's AI.

YOU CAN CHANGE LATER

Many women start fully faceless and add their voice after a few months. There's no wrong door.

CHAPTER 2

The 6 faceless formats that work now

You don't need all six. Pick two you like and rotate them. That's enough to start.

Pick two

1. The prompt list

"7 Claude prompts for _____. Save this." A simple list post. This format is everywhere right now because people save it and come back.

2. The carousel

5 to 8 slides that teach one thing, step by step. Text on a clean background or a photo. No face needed.

3. The quote post

One line your people feel deep inside, on a simple background. The kind they share to their story.

4. The screen recording

Record your phone or computer while you do something useful. "Watch me make a week of posts in 2 minutes."

5. Hands and moments

Your hands on a keyboard, a coffee cup, a notebook, your garden, your dog. Text on top tells the story.

6. The AI version of you

A photo and your voice become a talking video. Great for longer tips. Always say it's AI.

Best formats for 50+ beginners

Start with the prompt list and the carousel. They're the easiest to make with Claude, they don't need any filming, and people save them.

Set up your faceless page in one afternoon

You can use your own profile, or start a separate page. Both work. A separate page feels safer for many women.

1 Pick a simple name.

Your topic, not your name: "Starting Over With AI", "Garden Notes at 60", "The Calm Retirement Planner". Prompt #2 helps.

2 Pick a profile picture.

A simple logo, a flower, your hands with a coffee cup, or a drawing. Claude can describe one, and a free design tool can make it.

3 Write your bio in 3 lines.

Who you help, how, and what's free. Template #1 has the exact words.

4 Add one link.

Your free gift or your product. Just one.

5 Make your first 9 posts.

Before you tell anyone, post 9 helpful things. Then your page looks alive when people visit.

PRIVACY TIP

Turn off "show my location" and don't show house numbers, license plates or family faces in your photos.

Your brain file comes first

Before Claude writes anything, it needs to know you. Otherwise everything sounds like a robot.

A brain file is a short note about who you are, who you help and how you talk. You make it once, save it inside a Claude Project, and every post after that sounds like you.

WITHOUT A BRAIN FILE

Sounds like a robot

WITH A BRAIN FILE

Sounds like you

PROMPT 1. MAKE MY BRAIN FILE

Interview me so you can write my "brain file". Ask me 8 simple questions, one at a time: who I am, my age group, what I know, who I want to help, what worries them, how I talk, words I never use, and whether I want to stay fully faceless. Then write the brain file in plain words, under 300 words, so I can save it.

How to save it

- In Claude, click Projects, then New project
- Name it after your page
- Paste your brain file into the project's instructions
- Now open every chat for your page inside that project

Prompts 2 to 6: find your topic

Use these inside your Claude project, so your brain file is always there. Fill in the brackets.

2. NAME MY PAGE

Give me 15 name ideas for a faceless page about [topic] for [who I help]. Short, warm, easy to remember. No "guru" words.

3. WHAT DO I KNOW THAT OTHERS WANT?

Ask me 6 questions about my life, jobs and hobbies. Then list 10 topics I could teach without showing my face, and which 3 are best.

4. WHAT DO THEY WORRY ABOUT?

List the 20 biggest worries of [who I help] about [topic]. Write each one in the simple words they would really use.

5. MY 5 CONTENT LANES

Give me 5 simple themes ("lanes") to post about every week, so I never run out of ideas. One must be personal, one must be a tip.

6. 30 POST IDEAS

Using my 5 lanes, give me 30 post ideas for the next month. Mark which format fits each: list, carousel, quote, screen or hands.

Prompts 7 to 13: write the posts

7. THE PROMPT-LIST POST

Write a post called "7 Claude prompts for [goal]. Save this." Each prompt on its own line, short, useful. End with a gentle question.

8. THE HELPFUL TIP

Write a short post that starts with this worry: [worry]. Then give one simple tip. Under 120 words, kitchen-table talk.

9. THE "I USED TO THINK" POST

Write a post: "I used to think [old belief]. Now I know [new truth]." Make it honest and warm, with one small lesson.

10. THE MYTH BUSTER

Write a post that busts 3 myths about [topic] for [who I help]. Each myth in one line, the truth in two lines.

11. THE STORY POST

Here's something that happened to me: [short story]. Turn it into a post with a hook, the moment, the lesson, and a question.

12. FIX MY HOOK

Here's my first line: [line]. Give me 10 stronger versions that make a woman over 50 stop scrolling. No hype, no income claims.

13. MAKE IT SOUND LIKE ME

Rewrite this post in my voice from my brain file. Shorter sentences, simple words, no em-dashes, nothing I would never say: [post]

Prompts 14 to 19: carousels and quotes

14. CAROUSEL FROM A TIP

Turn this tip into a 7-slide carousel: [tip]. Slide 1 is a strong hook, slides 2 to 6 are one step each, slide 7 says "Save this". Max 15 words per slide.

15. CAROUSEL FROM A LIST

Make a 6-slide carousel: "5 things I wish I knew about [topic] before 50." One thing per slide, plus a cover slide.

16. 10 QUOTE POSTS

Write 10 one-line quotes that [who I help] would share to their story. Real feelings, not cheesy. Under 15 words each.

17. THE CAPTION

Write a caption for this carousel: [slides]. Open with one short line, add 3 numbered points, end with a question to answer.

18. DESIGN DIRECTIONS

Describe a calm, simple look for my carousels: 3 colors, 2 fonts, and a background style that fits my brain file.

19. TURN ONE POST INTO FIVE

Take this post and turn it into: a carousel, a quote, a short tip, a story post and a question post: [post]

Prompts 20 to 24: faceless reels

20. HANDS-ONLY REEL SCRIPT

Write a 20-second reel I can film with only my hands and [object].
Give me 4 shots, the text on screen for each, and a caption.

21. SCREEN RECORDING REEL

I want to record my screen while I [task]. Write the text on screen for each step, short enough to read in 2 seconds.

22. VOICE-OVER SCRIPT

Write a 30-second voice-over about [tip], as if I'm talking to a friend at my kitchen table. Simple words, one idea.

23. B-ROLL IDEAS

Give me 20 simple faceless shots I can film at home this week
(coffee, notebook, garden, window, keyboard...) to use behind text.

24. 3-SECOND HOOKS

Give me 10 on-screen hooks for a faceless reel about [topic]. Each under 8 words, each one makes her want to see the next second.

Prompts 25 to 30: comments, DMs and selling softly

25. MY COMMENT WORD

Suggest 5 comment words for my free gift about [topic]. One simple word, easy to type, matches the gift.

26. THE AUTO-DM

Write a warm, short DM that sends my free gift link when someone comments [word]. Thank them, give the link, ask one question.

27. REPLY TO COMMENTS

Here are comments on my post: [comments]. Write a kind, short reply to each, in my voice. No selling.

28. MY FREE GIFT

Using my brain file, give me 5 ideas for a small free gift (a checklist or 1-page guide) that leads to [my product].

29. THE SOFT SELL POST

Write a post that helps first, then mentions [product] in one honest sentence at the end. No pressure, no income claims.

30. READ MY COMMENTS

Here are 50 comments from popular posts about [topic]: [comments]. Group them by worry and tell me the 3 products they're asking for.

Fill in the blanks: bio and hooks

29 • THE FAQ POST

You asked: "[real question]". My honest answer: [answer].

30 • THE MILESTONE

[Number] days ago I posted my first faceless post, scared. Here's what I learned: [3 lessons].

The comment word method

This is the simplest way to turn a faceless post into new friends, emails and sales.

1. Post something helpful

A prompt list, a carousel, a tip. Give real value in the post itself.

2. Ask for one word

"Comment PROMPTS and I'll send you the full list." Comments also help more people see your post.

3. Send the gift

Reply by message with your free gift link. Later, a tool can send it for you automatically.

4. Stay in touch

The free gift asks for an email. Now you can help her every week, and mention your product sometimes.

KEEP IT KIND

Always give the gift you promised, fast. Never send people anything they didn't ask for.

Your 30-day faceless plan

About 30 minutes a day. One post a day. Claude does most of the writing.

Week 1: Set up

- Make your brain file and Claude project (Prompt 1)
- Name your page and write your bio (Prompt 2, Template 1)
- Get 30 post ideas (Prompts 5 and 6)
- Post your first 3 helpful posts

Week 2: Find your two formats

- Try a prompt list, a carousel and a quote post
- Notice which ones get saves and comments
- Keep the two you like best

Week 3: Add your free gift

- Make a simple 1-page free gift (Prompt 28)
- Use a comment word on 3 posts this week (Template 25)
- Reply to every comment (Prompt 27)

Week 4: Mention your product

- Keep posting daily in your two formats
- One soft sell post this week (Template 27)
- Read your comments and ask Claude what to make next (Prompt 30)

THE ONE RULE

Done beats perfect. Give it 90 days before you judge it.

The honest truths

Faceless takes a little longer.

People connect faster with a face. Your words and consistency make up for it.

Be honest about AI.

If you use an AI version of you, say so. Trust is everything.

Check what AI writes.

You're the boss. Fix anything that isn't true or isn't you.

Never buy followers.

A small real audience beats a big fake one, every time.

Nobody can promise you income.

If someone does, walk away. Online scams love people starting over.

Your age is your advantage.

Your experience is exactly what younger creators can't fake.

My apps

You can do everything in this kit with Claude alone. If you'd like a shortcut, I built these two apps for people like us. No tech skills, no face required.

The Content System

The content system I use to post every single day: hooks, captions, carousels and reels for Facebook, Instagram and Threads, in your own voice. No face required.

system.joseebedard.com →

BrandBuilder

Answer nine simple questions and get your whole brand in one afternoon: your story and voice, colors and fonts, a logo, a website and 30 days of posts.

ONE LAST THING

Your face was never the point. Your help is.

Somewhere a woman is scrolling tonight, wondering if it's too late for her. Your words could be the thing that helps her start. Pick two formats. Open Claude. Post your first helpful thing this week. Then come tell me about it. I'd love to cheer you on.
